Trust Me

God gave me two words in October of 2010, "trust me." Those two words continue to be embedded in my spirit as 2011 begins. With the uncertainty of the economy on most people's mind and mine too, God unveils the simple truth – "Trust me."

It was one beautiful fall day in South Texas when Cooper and I were headed for an afternoon stroll and like most times, I talk with God as we walked down the sidewalks of my neighborhood. This particular day I was in a financial crunch. With bills coming in and income not fulfilling them, I firmly hollered out, "God, what am I going to do?" I began to detail my checkbook to him, telling him I was in the red, and that this shouldn't be happening. And in the silence of my heart I hear, "Trust me." Waiting for something more, I stopped in my tracks to see if a full detailed explanation would be provided. Perhaps directions to proceed or a person, bank or family member to call upon, but nothing came. With a tear or two rolling down my cheeks, Proverbs 3:5 and 6 came to mind. "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him and he will make your paths straight."

The first part of this should be simple – "Trust in the Lord with all your heart." We can't just "some what" trust him or "half-heartedly" trust him, but fully believe and have confidence in him that he will see you through.

And then don't second guess, "lean not to your own understanding". Friend, it is not going to make sense, add up on paper or have a man made reasoning behind it. When we try on our own, it gets messed up, but with God all the i's get dotted and the t's get crossed!

Then comes the part we must do – "submit to him." We want the blessings, benefits and answers, but not the commitment. And I say this to you, "you've got to give it to him"! Everything you are, you have and desire – dreams and goals, and let God do the work in you according to his purpose in us. He wants all of you so that his glory can be fulfilled. And then he will "make your paths straight." Of course, you know the outcome of my financial circumstance...G L O R Y!

"...rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory." (I Peter 1:8)
